60 Years Leibniz Institute of Plant Biochemistry

The IPB published a Sixtieth Anniversary Celebration Publication (in German) outlining the history of the institute. In addition to research highlights during 60 years of plant biochemistry at the Weinberg, the book also provides social and political background information. It gives an insight into former research conditions and illustrates, notably in the chapter about the period of political changes (1989/90), how the research community of the GDR was integrated into the existing structures in the “old federal states”.
